

THE EVENING CRITIC.

ESTABLISHED AUGUST, 1868.

AMUSEMENTS.

"Rooms for Rent."

The audience at Ford's Bijou Opera-house last evening was by no means in keeping with the character of the comedy presented, and we regret that the Washington public evidence so little appreciation of merit. This farcical comedy is very clever, much more so than any of its character that we have seen for some time, and is strictly original and genuinely humorous.

There is more of a plot to the piece than was expected, and the wit and humor is healthily fresh. The cast is excellent, every impersonation is excellent, and the actors and actresses first-class.

Mr. I. N. Boers, as Harry Hackett, evidences natural humor entitling by careful study and the skill of art; Mr. John Matthews, as Chas. Bombard, is all respects the typical militia officer with a war record before the war or dreamed of during the late disturbance between the States. The character of Frederick Dahl is well enough sustained by Mr. Holst, but is a character that needs training and a character that needs off. There is too much too to it, both in the lines of the playwright and the stage business of the actor.

All of the ladies in "Rooms for Rent" are characteristically fine. The song in the first act by Miss Genevieve Reynolds—My Rose—was exquisitely rendered, and called for an encore, which would have doubled the house been larger.

Miss Lizzie Fletcher, as Mrs. Carter, acted exquisitely with a dash and a naturalness that elicited frequent applause, and Misses McNeil and Klenophon in their characters were in all respects easy, graceful and attractive.

"Rooms for Rent" is a comedy that merits the success which the public will tender it during the season.

National Theatre.

"Jo," at the National Theatre, drew a larger house last night than on the evening of its first presentation to the Washington public.

The play is very modern, and, in the company, in all respects, first-class. We are glad to see that the National Theatre has given up the Wednesday matinee business. It is overwork for the actors, and really not desired by the public.

Theatre Comique.

The Theatre Comique continues to hold the fort to large and enthusiastic audiences. The programme sparkles with bright, entertaining variety, and the specialty artists are in all respects first-class. The principal feature of the week is the excellent drama of "Dead to the World," presented by its author and leading character, the talented Sid C. France.

Abner's Summer Garden.

Abner's Summer Garden, Orchestra at Abner's opened last night to a large and fashionable audience. The gardens were, as usual, brilliantly and beautifully illuminated. The music and singing were delightful and the weather delicious. This season's season, gala is held every week, and is one of Washington's most solid institutions.

Driver's Summer Garden.

Driver's famous summer night concert, in his grove garden, all that charming resort nightly with enthusiastic audiences. The attractions of this week are especially fine—Masa and Drey, Mr. Lewis Baker, Messrs. Jagger and Petrola, Mr. H. Jagger, and the Marine band. No charge for admission.

Eighth Battalion District Militia.

A meeting of the surviving members of the old Eighth Battalion of District militia, consisting of Washington Jagers and Companies A and B of Turner regiments, was held last night at Loeffler's garden. E. Loeffler in the chair; secretary, A. E. L. Keese. Mr. Loeffler in an appropriate address called attention to the fact that the old commander, Gen. Joseph Gerhardt, and, on motion, a committee composed of A. E. L. Keese, Christian Dietrich and W. Koch was appointed and submitted suitable resolutions, which were adopted. A proposition looking to a permanent organization of the surviving members of the Eighth Battalion was made and favorably received, and a committee consisting of A. E. L. Keese, Frank A. Beckert, A. Dietrich, John Hinkel, W. Koch and W. Hageman was appointed to prepare and submit at a future meeting plans for the furtherance of the object.

A Disorderly Gathering.

Henry Pinckney, John W. King, John Day and James Mitchell, colored, were arrested before Judge Snell to-day, charged with obstructing the street and sidewalk in front of a hall during the King's Hall on the corner of Tenth and E streets. It seems that this place, formerly known as Liberty Hall, has been for some time rented to a colored organization comprising males and females, and that their meetings and antics therein had given umbrage to the other residents of the neighborhood. On the evening of last night the street had been so much obstructed that persons have been unable to pass by. The officers of the Second Precinct, headed by Sergeant Slattery, made a raid on the assembly last night, and arrested the parties above named. The Judge fined them $5 each.

Local Matters and the Yorktown Celebration.

The Columbia Commandery of this District met at the City Post-office last evening, and the sub-committees reported that up to this time 125 men have expressed their intention to go to Yorktown. Washington Commandery, No. 1, the oldest in the District, has not determined whether to participate or not. They will not decide before the 25th of the month.

The committee on fireworks and illuminations will meet to-night at the Post-office. The committee on illuminations meets Friday night, Mr. Boose in the chair. Mr. Dickson's sub-committee of one hundred meets to-night at the National Hotel.

Truesdell-Hathaway.

Last night Mr. Frank H. Truesdell and Miss Eugenie W. Hathaway were married at New Haven, Conn. Mr. Truesdell is the talented young manager of the National Associated Press Bureau in this city. The marriage occurred at the residence of the bride's father, James T. Hathaway, esq., the ceremony being performed by Dr. Denison. The wedding was quiet but very happy affair, and the young couple embarked upon the sea of matrimony under pleasant auspices. Mr. and Mrs. Truesdell left New Haven for a honeymoon at Watkins Glen. They will come to Washington about the first of next month.

Death of Captain Breese of the Navy.

Capt. K. B. Breese, United States Navy, died at Newport, R. I., at 1 o'clock yesterday morning of angina pectoris and dilation of the heart. He was born in Pennsylvania and appointed from Rhode Island November 6, 1846. He was made captain August 9, 1874, and on the list stood eighteenth at the time of his death. His total sea service was twenty years and three months, and his shore and other duty eleven years and six months. His last cruise ended in June, 1880. He was fifty-one years of age.

Dr. Rhodes' Transfusing Battery.

advertised in another column, is an article of real merit and is worth its weight in gold. It will positively do what is claimed for it. Money cheerfully refunded to all using it. Reasonable length of time if they are not satisfied. Mr. R. K. Helphinstine, the well-known druggist, Fourteenth and F streets—Ebbitt House—is the agent.

Blest be the tie that won't work around under one's left ear.

A BROKEN REED.

Touching Adventure of a Noted Wit for Christianity.

Dr. Ball, who has occupied quite a prominent share of public attention recently as a witness for Senator Christianity in his divorce suit, was on Sunday last made the victim of a practical joke, which has proved a source of much amusement to a number of the doctored Doctor's acquaintances.

On last Sunday the Doctor was gunning did go for reed birds. The Doctor knew that this proceeding was contrary to law; but the law had no terrors for him. Armed with a good fowling-piece, he was soon on his way, and it was not long before the unfortunate reed birds fell in swarms beneath his unerring aim. The Doctor was quietly chuckling within himself at his "entente" in evading the law, when the sound of muffled oars in the distance attracted the Doctor's attention. Cautiously peering from behind a tree, the Doctor saw a couple of eyes detected a couple of cops making their way toward him, with rapid strokes, their bright emblems of authority glistening in the noonday sun.

The plucky Doctor's soul took alarm, and his courage began to ooze out at his elbows as they were favorably patting his nose. No time was to be lost. To jump into his canoe and paddle for dear life was the work of an instant. How the Doctor did paddle. A mile a minute was nowhere. But still the relentless pursuers came on, apparently gaining at every stroke. The Doctor reined his efforts. Two hundred strokes to the minute. But it was no use. There is a limit to human endurance, and at last the Doctor gave up. When his pursuers reached him they found him fainting with exhaustion, trembling with fear, his face as red as a beet and his pulse at 140.

Miss Ella Gasch, a teacher, was granted leave of absence until she recovers from an attack of illness.

Regular Meeting of the School Board.

The School Board held their regular meeting at the Franklin School building last night. A letter was received from Professor Masson, offering to give French lessons in the Normal School, which offer was thankfully accepted.

Miss Ella Gasch, a teacher, was granted leave of absence until she recovers from an attack of illness.

A petition from Professor James M. Gregory, against the injustice of excluding his son from the Prescott School on account of his color. If the boy is compelled to go to a colored school, the petition states, it will be a great inconvenience, and it protests against the power of the school board to make the distinction. The petition was discussed and referred to the committee on rules. The renting of two buildings in the fourth division for school purposes was authorized.

The following resolution, of interest to many scholars, was passed:

Resolved, That the chairman be, and he hereby is, empowered to admit to examination for the existing vacancies in the schools, all of the pupils of the Elkhart grade who have already applied, together with all others who may apply, until such vacancies shall be filled.

It was agreed that the old school furniture should be used as far as practicable in furnishing the rented buildings.

The following resolution, of interest to many scholars, was passed:

Resolved, That the chairman be, and he hereby is, empowered to admit to examination for the existing vacancies in the schools, all of the pupils of the Elkhart grade who have already applied, together with all others who may apply, until such vacancies shall be filled.

A proposition was adopted for renting a building on O street, near Fifth, for school purposes.

The resignations of Miss Annie M. Gregg, sixth division, and Miss Mary E. Dodge and Mrs. E. Bohrer, third division, were accepted. The following applications for teachers' positions were received and placed on file: Clara A. Arnes, Mrs. A. C. Gatechell, O. M. Wood, Rae F. Saunders, A. F. Pierce, Josephina A. Church, Lucy Rider, C. N. Bowman, Mary A. Brownell, Lizzie H. Norton, Frank L. Latham, C. Bonney, Hattie Craft and Nellie D. Browne. Applications for janitors' positions were received from Edwin S. Smith and John E. Ferguson.

The sub-board of the fourth division made the following nominations of teachers: M. L. Smith, J. P. Bohrer, J. P. McLaughlin, B. Ryner and Marion W. Anderson. They also recommended that Miss M. L. Stroebel be granted leave of absence for the school year of 1881-82. Adopted. The sub-board of the fifth division reported the nomination of Miss Annie F. Pierce as teacher and Mrs. H. K. Burroughs assistant teacher. Adopted. The president submitted the standing committee for the year, the only change being the substitution of the name of Mr. H. A. Griswold for that of Mr. Christy on the various committees.

Serious Illness of Miss Anna Ella Carroll.

Miss Anna Ella Carroll is reported as dying at the residence of her sister, Mrs. Thomas Goodrich, at Pikesville, in the city of Baltimore. She was stricken with paralysis several days ago. She is perhaps one of the most remarkable women of the age. She is a ready and brilliant writer, and during the late war gained considerable notoriety, and rendered great service to the United States by preparing a plan for opening the Mississippi to the Union fleet, which was adopted. A bill for compensation for such service is now pending before Congress. It was favorably reported by the Military Committee of the House last session. Miss Carroll is a maiden lady, about sixty years of age. She is of the historic Carroll family. Her father, a lady of extraordinary ability and of thorough education and culture.

The Grand Jury Discharged Till October.

Mr. Churchill, the foreman of the grand jury, being desirous of an absence from his duties, to-day Col. Corkhill moved that the grand jury be dismissed from duty until the 3d of October next. Judge Cox acceded to the request and made the necessary order.

This looks like a most extraordinary move, but Col. Corkhill says that there is nothing pressing upon the deliberations of the grand jury at present, and it will save the Government at least $100 per day. There were unfavorable comments among the lawyers at the City Hall in connection with this discharge of the grand jury for so long a time at the reopening of business.

"That beastly Puck is no respecter of persons, nor of position!"—The Still-Hunt Commander of the Navee.

"At college they gave us hash; on the river we 'sail'—with water to wash it down!"—Malcolm Douglas.

"The oddity of dress is not confined exclusively to great men. I wear a green shirt sometimes!"—Billy Burdine.

"I can give a weight more cakes in one little hour than another can weigh in ten!"—Tom Rowe, of Haverhill.

"Blanked if I ain't sorry old Cornwall's ever surrendered. This Yorktown Centennial is growing monotonous!"—Col. M. M. Parker.

"No, my son, I am not the prophet to whom the children said, 'Go up, thou bald head.' The resemblance is striking, however!"—Clarence Barton.

"My telephone wire has got a heavy cross on it. Where is the man that wants a telephone? Atmospheric influences are very heavy now!"—J. A. Perkins.

"That was a mighty good idea to march the troops en route to the Yorktown Centennial in the same track as that taken by the Continental army!"—Col. Wm. G. Moore.

"I am lying in wait. Just await further political developments. This Re-adjuster scum in Virginia does not in the least decompose me!"—Jno. E. Norris, president of the Jackson Democratic Society.

"There is practically in this District a traffic in diseased meat. This is known. It is true that Bob Sutton looks after the shell-fish and oysters. There is absolutely no inspection of butchers' meat in this District, and it's a d—n shame!"—What a well-informed butcher said to our reporter yesterday.

"With the gun upon my shoulder, and the bayonet by my side, I'll be taking some fair lady and be making her my bride!"—Buck Ward, of the W. L. I.

A young man was driving a sleigh, with his dearly-beloved fiancée. The maiden cried: "Oh! Just look at the snow!"—Professor Vennor.

There was an old fellow in Leicester. On the back of his neck had a blood-cleaver. The tears filled his eyes. But to his eyes he was blind. He returned to his consort and keelstruck. —Hon. W. E. Gladstone.

The School Furniture—Is It Ever

To the Editor of the Evening Critic:

Here we are at the beginning of the second week of school and more than a thousand children are still sent home day after day because the furniture for the new buildings has not been received. The authorities, as is well known, have had money to buy this needed furniture for over six months, that is, the appropriation was made over six months ago. It has been available since the first day of July, and it is difficult to see what satisfactory excuse can be offered for failure to provide the furniture in time for the opening of the schools.

It is well known that the thoroughly tested chair-furniture of satisfactory pattern could have been, and could be now, got on short notice. Two sets of this furniture that were ordered were promptly delivered, and are in use all right. There was money enough to buy this kind of furniture. But the furniture that is now being used is of a cheap and inferior kind, and the children in the public schools; and so the dreary performance of last year seems to have been repeated with only slight variations this year, and a large lot of cheap bench-furniture ordered. But it doesn't come. The same state of things occurred last year. The new furniture didn't come in time, and some of the schools were kept disorganized for months. The agents don't call it bench-furniture, I believe, but "combination furniture," or some such high-sounding name. But it is bench-furniture nevertheless. It is disorganized, and a bench in place of a chair. Of course, it is cheaper. You can hang or hinge a bench, composed of one plank or of several narrow planks, onto the back side of an ordinary school desk cheaper than you can make a chair. Anybody can see that, and especially furniture manufacturers. But the school furniture can be offered, they realize a large profit, and can afford to pay liberally for agents and influence where these will do the most good. It may be too late—I suppose it is—to change the order even if the authorities were willing, and there is no reason to think they would be. In their view benches are plenty good enough for school children. Why should the public buy a chair when a bench can be got cheaper? Benches by all means. Benches or nothing. Well, thus far it appears to be chiefly "nothing."

BROWN—In Baltimore, on September 12, at 1 a. m., Clara M., consort of Dr. F. E. Brown.

A CARD.

We desire, in few and plain-spoken words, to communicate the position of our established house. We have for the past three years been doing business at the south-east corner of Seventh and D streets (Wash. B. Williams' Building). We particularly wish to impress our patrons and the public with the fact that the undersigned have, since the very opening of the above location, been sole owners and proprietors, but known and conducted under a different name. Now, what we wish to say is this: That every dollar's worth of clothing sold during that time has been of our own manufacture, and we shall continue keeping the same class of goods in our new establishment. We do not say they are the best-made garments to be found anywhere, and that we sell cheaper than anyone else, but we do assert that there are none to equal in style and workmanship, and no one able to sell lower.

We never exaggerate, giving invariably to each customer the value of his purchase, and in every instance return money where goods are not satisfactory.

Our One-Price System, which we so strictly enforced, will be one of the principal features in conducting our business.

We occupy the entire building. Every floor, fully one hundred feet deep, stocked with an attractive and varied line of good goods only, in order to maintain our excellent reputation as sole manufacturers of high grade clothing for Men's, Youths', Boys' and Children's wear.

In our Tailoring Department we constantly keep foreign and domestic productions. Thanking you most kindly for past patronage, and anticipating a share in the future, we are, very respectfully,
